

INDIANA TREE CLIMBING COMPETITION

MASTERS' CHALLENGE

The Masters' Challenge event is the championship round of the competition.

The top three finishers from the preliminary round advance to the Masters' Challenge to compete for the title of Indiana champion. The Masters' Challenge is designed to judge the contestant's overall productivity and skill with a rope and saddle in the tree. The stations are similar to the Work Climb Event stations.

The winner of the Indiana competition will serve as the representative at the annual International Tree Climbing Competition where competitors from all over the world compete for the international title.
